WHITNEY FOR PRESIDENT

Democratic Democrats Talk Up Ex-Secretary for Next Year.

Cleveland, O., to Succeed Him Should Anything Happen to Grover—Whitney Talked of for President—Olney Talked, But Cannot Carry Massachusetts—Democratic Leaders Not Pleased with the Suggestion of Whitney.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—A number of prominent Democrats have been discussing the political situation with a view to ascertaining who would be the most available candidate for President in 1896. Last week there was an influx of Democratic leaders from Ohio to get Gen. Brice, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and their greatest task is considered to prevent Governor Campbell from getting control of the State of Ohio. The plan of campaign is to have Governor Campbell and to nominate for President Cleveland and to re-nominate Governor Campbell for Governor. Gen. Brice, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Senator Gorman, Chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Committee, have had a conference with Governor Campbell, Cleveland and Whitney, and it is understood that the plan of campaign has been agreed upon.

Senator Gorman of Maryland was at first opposed to the election of Mr. Brice as the Democratic National Committee. He did not like Governor Campbell, and he did not want to have Governor Campbell re-nominated for Governor. Governor Campbell has been defeated by Governor Brice, and Governor Campbell has been defeated by Governor Brice, and Governor Campbell has been defeated by Governor Brice, and

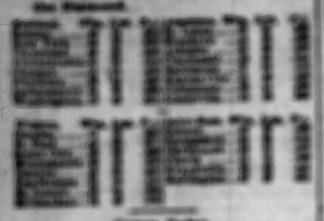
ANSON'S MEN WIN A GAME

NEW YORK SURRENDERS IN A CLOSE AND EXCITING CONTEST.

A Lucky Knock of Hartzog in the Eighth Combined with Errors by the Visitors Puts Two Counters for Chicago—Philadelphia, Washington, and Indianapolis Are Other Leagues Winners—Results of Contests Made Around Both Ends of the Diamond.



Score Table.

Game in an Hour Forty Minutes.

New York, July 10.—Chicago's Anson and his men had the finish written all over them this afternoon in the Polo grounds. Not a man in the entire lineup of the visitors but was a past New York leader, and the game was a contest between the Giants' present and past. Chicago got the better of it in the end, but it was a close call. Two runs in the eighth inning, which followed a base on balls to Hartzog, a single by Dahlen, a sacrifice by Anson, and a single by Ryan, were the deciding factors which gave the Chicagos the game by a score of 3 to 2. Up to within two innings of the finish it looked as if the Giants would win the game.

The home team, aided by the visiting pair from New York, by their errors in the seventh inning, gave Chicago the opportunity to score the two runs that decided the game. Dahlen and Anson were the first batters up in the eighth inning, and the former got first base on balls. Anson followed with a single to center, Dahlen reaching third and Anson second. Ryan then hit to Doyle, forcing Anson at second, Dahlen scoring on the play. Hartzog then hit to Doyle, who fumbled the ball, Ryan scoring and Hartzog reaching first. Tenney then struck out, retiring the side.

The New Yorks, aided by the visiting pair from New York, by their errors in the seventh inning, gave Chicago the opportunity to score the two runs that decided the game. Dahlen and Anson were the first batters up in the eighth inning, and the former got first base on balls. Anson followed with a single to center, Dahlen reaching third and Anson second. AT CRICKET AND BASE BALL.

The Collegians Meet the Lansing Magicians and Are Ahead of the Bloomingdales.

New York, July 10.—[Special.]—President A. G. Spalding of the Chicago club, who set in motion, last November, on the subject of cricket in America, which has grown to such proportions that it bids fair to become a national game, has suggested a match between the Chicago team and a team of the Philadelphia cricketers. This has been suggested in order to test both sides before the game that is to be played in England next year. Should the Chicago team win the match it will be taken to England to play against the best teams there. Should it lose it will be taken to England to play against the best teams there. Should it win the match it will be taken to England to play against the best teams there. Should it lose it will be taken to England to play against the best teams there.

The team, selected with the meeting just New York, by their errors in the seventh inning, gave Chicago the opportunity to score the two runs that decided the game.
